Subject: Disposition of Assets

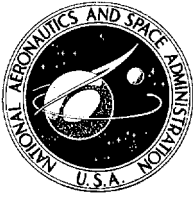

Your letter of 27 August has been forwarded to our higher headquarters for their information and action. Although we have received no official notification regarding the disposition of the facilities at North Base, we are aware that a number of agencies are considering acquisition of the real estate. The equipment and furniture mentioned in your letter is accountable property, transfer of which would be governed by applicable Air Force regulations. At present, we at the unit level have no authority to direct the disposition of these assets until instructions are furnished by our headquarters. We estimate that such advice will be forwarded when the decision is made confirming the new tenant.

Subject: Acquisition of Government Property
at "North Base"

The NASA is anticipating acquiring the real property commonly referred to as North Base. To support the increased activity which will be generated by such an increase to our tenancy agreement, I request that all furniture, such as desks, chairs, filing cabinets, storage cabinets, bookcases, etc., and all office machines, such as typewriters, adding machines, calculators, and reproduction machines, presently located at the North Base complex be transferred, in place, to the NASA Flight Research Center, on a non-reimbursable basis.
